LEGION MEETING

A well attended meeting was held in the old school house on Monday, Jan. 20. A lively discussion was held about the future and many suggestions were offered to get this branch moving in the right direction. Veterans are requested to attend the meetings and help build up the Carbon branch.

At present the problem is to find storage for some school equipment so if you have a vacant spot let us know. There is also a drive on for furniture for the club room. If you have anything you are not using and believe it will be useful to the Legion call the hall committee and they will arrange to pick it up. "Dusty" Pozon, Don Reid and F. Schmierer are on this committee.

Don't forget the regular meetings are held the third Monday of each month.

CONSUMER CREDIT REGULATIONS OFF

Following the finance minister's recent announcement on the removal of consumer credit regulations, the Prices Board announced the revocation of the consumer credit order specifying these regulations, effective January 13.

This step now removes the restrictions on credit buying such as the size of down payments and the length of credit period.

GOOD NEWS FOR HOUSEWIVES

The Farmers' Exchange announce that they will soon have on exhibition and for sale in Carbon, the new Beatty Automatic Washer. This is good news for housewives because the Beatty Automatic does away with 95 percent of the manual labor previously needed to wash and damp dry clothes.

The only labor required to operate the Beatty Automatic Washer is that of placing the clothes in the machine, adding soap and water, and turning a switch. Within a few minutes the clothes will have been thoroughly washed, rinsed and damp dried, ready for hanging in the line. The Washer even drains and cleans automatically, no scrub to clean out.

The new revolutionary feature of the Beatty Automatic is that the rinsing and drying is performed by hydraulic pressure. No installation costs are incurred in installing the washer in the home. It is vibrationless and can be used in the laundry, kitchen or bathroom without any special foundation. No special plumbing or water heaters required. The washer can be attached to taps as easily as a garden hose; and water can be heated on a stove if the home is not equipped with a water heater.

Simple construction is another feature of the Beatty Automatic. It has less than half the number of parts of an ordinary wringer type washer.

A BAR FROM A CUPFUL

In these days of fat and soap shortages it is difficult for most housewives to save the usual six pounds of fat to make soap. However small batches may be made using leftover kitchen fat not suitable for cooking. The best soap is made from a mixture of hard and soft fats such as tallow with bacon or poultry fat.

Recipe for one bar of soap:
1 cup clean fat
5 tsp. lye
Half tsp. borax (if desired)
Half cup soft water

Measure fat, heat until melted and cool to 110F. (A drop on the inside of the wrist should feel warm but not hot at this temperature). Stir in the borax if used. Stir fat occasionally to prevent crystals forming. Dissolve lye in water and cool to lukewarm. Pour lye solution into fat slowly in a thin steady stream with slow even stirring. Continue stirring 10 to 20 minutes until soap is like honey. Pouring lye too fast or stirring vigorously will separate the ingredients. If the soap is not thick enough in half an hour and has grease on top set the container in cool water and stir. Pour into moulds, cover, and keep warm for 24 hours.

Complete directions for making soap may be had from the home economics service, department of agriculture, Edmonton.

OUR HALF ACRE

By H. J. Umbrite

Barley For Weed Control

At the recent Dominion Provincial agricultural conference it was decided that an effort be made to increase livestock production. If livestock production is to be increased, then the acreage sown to coarse grains must also be increased. If the acreage sown to coarse grain is to be increased then the acreage sown to wheat must be reduced. This can only be brought about by making the return from barley, comparable to the return from wheat. They propose to do this by paying an acreage bonus on land that is seeded to barley.

Farmers who have a wild oat or Canada thistle problem are well advised to seed infested land to an early maturing barley, such as Olli. If Olli barley is used for controlling Canada thistle it should be seeded in the early spring at a heavy rate, two to two and a half bushels per acre and if possible with fertilizer. The crop should be ready for harvest by August 1, before the Canada thistle that have grown have seeded. As soon as the crop has been removed cultivation should be commenced and continued at intervals until freeze-up. If this method is used most thistles will be eradicated however severe infestations may require the above treatment for two years.

Next: "The use of barley in controlling wild oats and wild mustard"

NO MORE SUBSIDY

A new statement of import subsidy policy effective January 13, announces removal of a number of items from eligibility for subsidy, the Prices Board announces. Imported woollen, worsted and linen fabrics and articles made from these materials were cited as the chief items affected.

The removal of these subsidies follows the government's recent re-statement of the stabilization policy and the usual procedure of discontinuing subsidies as soon as conditions warrant.

As a result of the government's policy of removing subsidies on the fabrics mentioned above, an average increase of approximately ten percent on the finished products would not be noticeable for several months.

Order Seed Early

Each year in this column I write this same little message. I only repeat it because I know from letters received that this annual reminder does seem to help a number of farmers. The message is this. Order your supplies of registered and certified seed as quickly as possible.

For the last three years supplies have been short. Many farmers who ordered their seed late in the season were seriously disappointed, and so handicapped in their farming operations because the seed growers' supplies of good seed were exhausted. There are always unexpected hazards with good seed. At the last moment, even when seed has been promised to be delivered, the stocks may not finally pass government inspection, perhaps because of low germination, or because of a slight trace of weed seeds or of other grains that cannot be removed by cleaning; often then it is too late to secure other stocks. The remedy, then, is to order seed early; and then, if anything happens, there is still a chance to purchase other supplies. I do not believe there is any investment a farmer can make that will bring him more profitable returns than the purchase of a few bushels of the best registered or certified seed, sown each year on a few acres of new breaking or clean summerfallow.

PREPARE FOR NEXT YEAR

Preparation for next year's crop should include a Seed Test. Have a germination test made on your seed—NOW!

Our Agricultural Department make such tests free of charge. If you have an agricultural or marketing problem consult our agent who will refer it to us for consideration and advice.

IMPORTANT GOVERNMENT NOTICE

Respecting Price Control

The Wartime Prices and Trade Regulations (Order in Council P.C. 8528 of November 1, 1941) established basic period maximum prices for goods and designated services. These regulations were passed under the authority of the War Measures Act and continued in force under the National Emergency Transitional Powers Act, 1945.

From time to time these basic maximum prices have been varied or the fixed maximum has been suspended in the case of particular goods and services by Orders issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board under the authority of the above Regulations. A few days ago a substantial number of suspensions from price control was announced.

I believe it is desirable therefore that a summary should now be published of those goods and services on which a legal maximum price remains in force under the provisions of the Wartime Prices and Trade Regulations so that all citizens may be given an opportunity to inform themselves of the law.

The complete price control regulations are contained in Wartime Prices and Trade Board Order No. 684 which is available to the public at any office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and to which reference should be made for exact details.

Douglas Cooney
Minister of Finance.

Food Fads

Nutrition and food fads, that may embrace all sorts of weird theories and fallacies, are unrelated. Nutrition is based on scientific knowledge of food values, combinations and benefits.

There is nothing complicated about nutrition, if one takes the trouble to study it, and its knowledge is simple to apply. It

Baby's Teeth

Parents have a definite responsibility to instil the dental examination habit in their children. Most parents realize the importance of giving youngsters a good start in life by providing adequate dental care. The dental health division of the federal health department states that there remain too many children who never receive dental care.

calls for daily consumption of milk, fruit, vegetables, meat or meat alternates and whole grain products. It also teaches methods of preparation to conserve the nutrients in the protective foods.

Many children receive no attention to their teeth until they reach school age. The fact is, an infected baby tooth can be just as dangerous as its successor, the permanent tooth.

Your Part

While they hesitate to predict what effect lack of dental care in infants will have on these children in later life, the authorities declare that early regular dental attention definitely reduces the number of chronic diseases of the heart, eyes, kidneys and joints.

in a national undertaking. Health leaders are aware that they need public understanding and support. One authority says: "The whole program of preventive medicine, the entire battle of humanity against disease, must pivot on co-operation of the man in the street, the person behind the plow, the counter or the pen. It is his health, his money and his future which are at stake." Interest of everyone in, and compliance with, health regulations intended to improve your lot, is invited by Canadian health authorities from coast to coast.

Rheumatism at Work

Rheumatism is one of the chief causes of absenteeism in industry and unfavorable working conditions are blamed. Experts studying relation of the disease to such environmental factors as overcrowding, inadequate ventilation and temperature extremes believe that, as these conditions are corrected, plants may help their employees further, by providing canteens and clothes drying facilities. There is evidence, too, that rheumatism may result from habitual shocks, blows or vibrations.
